Department contact:Tip or Complaint:

I believe that Glueck's has NOT notified the EPA of new activities that involve the processing, storage, and release of regulated waste. They have been cited in the past for non-notification. The company is designated by the county as a salvage yard, and has added an automotive shredder that is releasing particulate matter ("car fluff") of possible toxic composition into the air and it is landing in surrounding surface waters, public recreational areas (golf courses, bike trail) and homes (and pools). Attached are images of contamination of surface waters and samples after just a few hours of operation of the shredder on 03.21.2018 shortly after local inspection by Sarasota County air quality code enforcement official John Hickey. The location of the two samples I took is shown on the map. I would like to have Glueck's inspected for any EPA violations, checked to see if they have notified EPA of the new activities and have all their documents in order -- based on my conversations with local officials, they have not notified EPA of the new activities. (They certainly didn't notify us.) Here are the coordinates for the pollution sampling 27 degrees 12.679 minutes N, 082 degrees 28.004. minutes W. The relatively uncontaminated sample labeled North Creek is a control, collected at the same time. Its location also is on the aerial image.
